For many people Mardi Gras is a family event. Sheriff Champagne would like to offer the following tips to help keep you, your family, and your belongings safe.

Following these tips will allow everyone to have a safe and memorable Mardi Gras:

A Mardi Gras crowd can take on its own personality. Make sure your actions contribute to the fun, safety and mystery of Mardi Gras and not to a disturbance that everyone will regret later.

Do not fasten ladders together in groups. Don't place ladders in intersections or closer to the curb than the height of the ladder. When using a ladder, always stand on the back as an anchor and protect your child from fast-flying throws.

Parade spectators should never throw anything at floats or riders. Float riders are not expecting this and serious injuries could result. It is also against the law.

Do not encourage anyone to run alongside floats for throws - they are ten ton moving vehicles and present a life-threatening danger if the crowd surges forward. Make sure you remind your kids to stay out of the street during parades. Accidents happen when floats are unable to make sudden stops.

Respect the directions of band and marching unit chaperones and the police. Move out of their way and allow them to perform.

Police officers are very tolerant during the Mardi Gras season, but arrests are made for violations including those involving injuries to persons or property, urinating in public, and weapons offenses. The local jail is a very busy place during the Mardi Gras season and is a place to avoid if you want to have a good time and enjoy Mardi Gras. Please act responsibly.

Make sure that you park legally and make note of your exact location. Don't leave valuables in the interior of your vehicle. Secure these in the trunk of the vehicle or otherwise place them out of view. Watch your valuables. Crime happens in every city and during every event that draws a big crowd, so don't assume you're valuables are safe. Men, put your money or wallet in your front pocket. In a huge crowd with bodies smashed together you may not feel your back pocket being picked, you might just assume someone bumped into you. If your valuables are in your front pocket you'll be more likely to notice someone attempting to separate you from them. Ladies, don't carry a purse unless you have to carry one. If you do need to carry one for some reason keep the strap over your shoulder like a sash, with your purse in the front. Do the same with camera bags if you must carry them. You'll be more aware of where they are and less likely to lose them or have them taken if they are right where you can see them at all times.

Establish a meeting place with your family in case someone gets lost. Also, make sure your kids carry a card that includes their name, address, phone number and pre-arranged meeting place. Teach your kids to find a police officer in the event that they would get lost.
